

Part 1

a. Part* one: a presentation containing definitions, characteristics, state of the art, research directions, open problems, main implementations; all should be connected to the project you have chosen; for example if you have chosen “Routing protocols in WSN”, then part one should refer to routing protocols in WSNs and not in general to WSNs;

Part 2

b. Part two: a detailed description of a scientific paper which was published in a specialty scientific journal or in the proceedings of a specialty conference; the source of the paper must be mentioned in References and CANNOT be a general purpose journal (even from the IT field);
